SpeechTEK West Announces Best of Show Awards for 2007

By BusinessWire

LEXINGTON, Ky., BUSINESS WIRE -- SpeechTEK West, the speech technology industry's premier West Coast conference and trade show, has announced the 2007 Best of Show Awards selected from the products and innovations showcased recently in San Francisco.

SpeechTEK West, a subsidiary of Information Today, Inc., was held February 21-23 at the Hilton San Francisco.

Board members of the Applied Voice Input/Output Society (AVIOS), the industry's professional society, evaluated exhibitors and their products in various categories against selected criteria including creativity and utility.

About SpeechTEK

Launched in 1995, SpeechTEK Expositions and Educational Conferences (www.speechtek.com) are recognized worldwide as the industry's premier events focusing on products, services, applications, solutions and innovations using speech technologies. Held twice a year in New York and San Francisco, the trade shows and educational conferences attract a global network of speech technology providers and enterprise network customers who are developing and implementing speech solutions.

About Information Today

Information Today is the parent company of SpeechTEK and Speech Technology Magazine. Information Today, Inc. (ITI) is a leading publisher and conference organizer in the information and knowledge management industries. The company is widely known as the publisher of premier information and knowledge management titles such as Information Today, Computers in Libraries, ONLINE, MultiMedia & Internet@Schools, CRM, Searcher, KMWorld, and EContent. ITI is also the sponsor and organizer of many industry conferences, including WebSearch University, KMWorld & Intranets, Internet Librarian, Computers in Libraries, Enterprise Search Summit, and Streaming Media.

About the Applied Voice Input Output Society

AVIOS (the Applied Voice Input Output Society) is a professional society dedicated to promoting the development and diffusion of real world applications of speech technology. AVIOS creates linkages between users, developers, and researchers to advance speech technology as the interface of choice. AVIOS provides opportunities for members to learn more about market and technical developments and to exchange informal communications. Through AVIOS, researchers discover what developers, marketers, and end users require in speech-automated products and services. Developers and marketers learn how to identify appropriate applications for speech technology and how to present them.
